Interdisciplinary Conference in Hildesheim

Conference 850 Years St. Godehard in Hildesheim

For the first time, the conference will review the history of the church and its important historical furnishings over the centuries. The conference will focus on three main aspects: The foundation of the monastery and the building of the church in the 12th century, the alterations to the church and monastery in the course of the reforms in the 15th century, and the historicist redesign in the 19th century. Experts from art history, (church) history, conservation and architecture will be involved.

Registration deadline: 11 September 2022.

All lectures are in German.

You can find the conference programme and the registration here.

Research Projects

DFG Project to Develop a Digital Toolbox for Imaging Procedures

The DFG project "The mural cycle on the sciences and arts in the Brandenburg Cathedral cloister". HAWK will continue its conservation science research on the substantial and ideational development of the preserved inventory with partners over the next 3 years. The title of the new DFG project by Ursula Schädler-Saub (co-applicant: Angela Weyer, Hornemann Institute) is "Hyperspectral examination methods and the development of a digital toolbox for researching and communicating fragmentary wall painting".

The project aims to complete the improved visualisation of the fragmentary wall painting cycle in the former library of the Brandenburg Cathedral cloister, to transfer the developed methodology and technique to two other case studies and to further develop them. As a result, a digital toolbox for imaging procedures will be made available.

Further information can be found here.

Stucco Project Starts

With a delay, our interdisciplinary research project on the Romanesque stucco fragments from the UNESCO World Heritage Church of St. Michaelis in Hildesheim is starting. It is about an extensive re-documentation of the approximately 200 medieval stucco fragments according to today's methodology. The objects originate from the second half of the 12th century, either from the choir screen or from the slightly older figures of the so-called beatitudes and the arcade arches in the southern aisle. LÜCKENSCHLUSS: Resiliente Quartiersentwicklung für die denkmalgeschützte Fachwerkaltstadt Hannoversch Münden (CLOSING THE GAP: Resilient neighbourhood development for the listed half-timbered old town of Hannoversch Münden)

The complexity of preserving the structure and substance of half-timbered old towns while at the same time transforming them in a future-oriented way is like untying a Gordian knot. Gap closures take on a supporting role in this interplay, regardless of their causality. If these breaches are recognised as enabling spaces, they hold ground breaking potential for urban development oriented towards the common good. In public, however, gaps are usually perceived rather painfully as wounds in the organism that need to be healed as quickly as possible.

Porträt Julie Heerlein Lindley. Untersuchung, Zustandserfassung und Konservierungskonzept (Portrait Julie Heerlein Lindley Research, condition detection and conservation concept)

The bachelor thesis includes the identification of the object and places it in the art historical context. The technological nature of the object, its production and changes are compared with other objects made by the artist Robert Schneider. The method for consolidating the image layer is discussed and evaluated with the help of tests. (Only available in German)

Konzept zur Konservierung und Restaurierung des Gemäldes „Blinder Bettler im Café“ von Josef Scharl aus dem Jahr 1927 (Concept for the conservation and restauration of the drawing „Blinder Bettler im Café“ by Josef Scharl from 1927)

The paper first documents the painting and classifies it in terms of art history. The comparison with other works by the artist provides insights into the painting style and the resulting damage phenomena. The conservation concept developed includes measures for consolidating the painting layer and cleaning the surface of the object. For this purpose, various methods of consolidation and cleaning were compared and tested for their compatibility. The work can serve as a basis for measures on other objects by Josef Scharl.
